OUR MISSION

Frontline is a charity with a mission to make life better for children at risk of harm, by improving the services that support them.

Hundreds of thousands of children experience or are at risk from abuse and neglect at home, sexual and criminal exploitation outside the home, and other harms. For these children, the right support and protection can make all the difference.

That's why we develop excellent practice and leadership in social work and other children's services. And we are cultivating innovative new approaches to child protection and driving positive systems change for children.

We are looking for enthusiastic individuals from a diverse range of backgrounds to join our organisation and contribute to our work to create lasting social change for children and families. At Frontline we do this while striving to achieve a culture of freedom and responsibility, and working to become a truly anti-racist organisation. Read on to find out more about our culture and what we are looking for in this role.

FREEDOM AND RESPONSIBILITY: OUR CULTURE

To achieve our best work as a charity, we need to both let go of control and expect much more of one another. If we can manage this feat, you will be surrounded by a team who can solve problems, speak with candour, communicate expectations and give one another the space and support to achieve fantastic results for children and families. This is what we call a culture of freedom and responsibility.

How do we make it happen? Freedom without responsibility results in chaos – confusion, frustration, a lack of accountability. Responsibility without freedom breeds a rigid focus on following rules and process, even when professional judgement and creativity would produce better results. It can result in people doing things right without doing the right thing. Because of this, we need to have huge levels of both freedom and responsibility. The most important word is not freedom, nor responsibility, but and.

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

Frontline is an employer that takes equal opportunity seriously and seeks to walk the talk.

We believe that the strongest performing teams have a lot of difference in them. Our employees come from a range of backgrounds and with various expertise. We are committed to anti-discriminatory practice and are actively seeking to bring people with different lived experiences into the organisation. According to our most recent demographic survey, 30% of our employees are from global majority backgrounds, 6% are disabled, 18 are neurodivergent and 19% identify as LGBTQ+.

We are committed to being an actively anti-racist organisation. For us at Frontline, that means proactively tackling systems and structures that perpetuate and embed racism in our society.

We have a diversity and inclusion working group that includes employees from across all teams and levels including the people team and our senior leadership team. The group leads on recommendations for improvements in this area and implements initiatives to achieve equality for all.

We are committed to taking an inclusive approach to recruitment. We use a system called Pinpoint, which helps to remove bias from the selection process by anonymising applications. We ensure all of our employees have the relevant knowledge to support these aims. We design and deliver regular workshops and training around diversity, inclusion and belonging. We are proud to have won the ENEI Best Smaller Employer Award 2020.

If you're interested in hearing more about diversity and inclusion at Frontline, please feel free to contact people@thefrontline.org.uk.

THE ROLE

Job description:

This six-month role has been created to provide additional capacity during a busy period of organisational growth and change, with a particular focus on supporting a high volume of recruitment activity and providing an efficient, inclusive and candidate-focused recruitment service across the organisation

Alongside recruitment, the role will support the People Officer with onboarding new starters and provide high-quality HR administration across the employee lifecycle. This is a fast-paced and varied role that would suit someone who is highly organised, proactive and passionate about delivering excellent people services.

Key responsibilities:

Recruitment

- Coordinate recruitment activity across the organisation, ensuring vacancies are advertised effectively on relevant platforms and within agreed timescales.
- Manage recruitment administration, including scheduling interviews, coordinating assessment activities and maintaining accurate recruitment records and trackers.
- Act as a key point of contact for candidates and hiring managers throughout the recruitment process, delivering a positive and inclusive experience.
- Coordinate reasonable adjustments for candidates and support the organisation's commitment to equitable and inclusive recruitment practices.
- Prepare offer documentation and support the completion of pre-employment checks, including references, DBS checks and right-to-work verification.
- Produce recruitment reports and data insights to support continuous improvement of recruitment processes.

THE ROLE

Onboarding

- Support the People Officer in coordinating onboarding activities for new starters, ensuring a smooth and welcoming transition into the organisation.
- Assist with preparing contracts, offer letters and onboarding documentation.
- Coordinate induction schedules, meetings and introductory sessions with managers and key stakeholders.
- Maintain accurate records relating to new starters within HR systems and personnel files.

Administration

- Provide high-quality administrative support across the employee lifecycle, maintaining accurate employee records and HR systems.
- Act as a first point of contact for routine People Team queries, providing timely responses and escalating where appropriate.
- Support the administration of absence, leave and other employee records, ensuring data is accurate and up to date.
- Provide administrative support to People Team projects and initiatives as required.
- Contribute to the organisation's diversity, equity and inclusion objectives by embedding inclusive practices across recruitment and people processes.

Diversity means stronger teams and we want Frontline to reflect the communities we serve. Therefore, we are actively seeking applicants from global majority backgrounds for this role. We are a disability confident employer and welcome applicants with disabilities. We ensure a diverse shortlist for all our roles, so when prompted, we encourage you to share this information with us if you are willing to do so.
